Megan Czarnecki

Exploring Core Democratic Values via a Class Butterfly Collection! Looking at Current Issues, Quotes, Images

1. Find an article in any local newspaper or online news source (MLive, WSJ, NYT, etc.) that presents a local, state, or national public policy issue. Print out for class and attach to this rubric.

Summarize the article.

Identify the CDV that is being debated.

Identify the level of government that would have jurisdiction in this issue. (local, state, national) AND the branch of government that addresses this issue (legislative, executive, or judicial)

Give the rationale for choosing the CDV you identified.

Develop 2-3 focus questions that would help another student discuss the issue.

2. Find a quote from a notable person that exemplifies this CDV.

3. Find an image that exemplifies this CDV.

4. Be ready to present your article, quote and image to a small group and turn in.

	3 points	1 point	0 points
Article	Article highlights a	Article is about	No article turned ATUCIE	community, state, or	something other than a	in national public policy	public policy issue	111
	issue	(service learning, etc.)
Article Summary	Article is summarized	Article is summarized.	Article summary is
Al ticle Summary	clearly and succinctly	Important info may be	missing.
	including all important	missing or summary	missing.
	information	includes too much info.
CDV identified	CDV(s) identified	Rationale for identified	CDV identified and rationale	correctly and Rationale	CDV described, but may	incorrectly or not given	for identified CDV(s)	be unclear	identified or given	clearly described	be uncrear	Rationale for clearly described		identified CDV
			not described
Level of	Correctly identifies the	N/A	Level of government	level of government with	1 1/ 2 1	government
Sovermient	jurisdiction		incorrect.
Branch of	Correctly identifies the	N/A	Branch(es) of government	branch(es) of government		gov't involved
8	involved		incorrect
Focus questions	2-3 focus questions that	1 focus question that will	No focus questions
-	will facilitate discussion	facilitate discussion	written
	of the issue
On time	Assignment is on time	Work is posted on time,	Assignment is late.
	and available for class	but not brought to class	-
	discussion	for discussion
Title/Citation	Article is identified by	One piece of information	Article is the Title, Date, News	is missing: Title, Date,	misidentified or
	Source	News Source	not identified
Quote	Quote exemplifies the	N/A	Quote
	CDV being studied and		misidentifies the includes the speaker		CDV being studied or doesn't
			identify any CDV
Image	Image exemplifies the	N/A	Image
	CDV being studied		misidentifies the CDV being studied or doesn't
			identify any CDV

Megan Czarnecki Total points possible: 30; Total points earned: ______

Name of Section   Student work inserted below electronically for each section.     Title of Article and   "Poll: Slim US Majority Has Prejudice Against Blacks"     APA Citation   Agiesta, J. 2012, October 27. Poll: Slim US Majority Has Prejudice Against Blacks. Retrieved October 27, 2012, from MSN news: http://news.msn.com/     Complete summary of Article   Even with our first African American president, the racial attitudes towards African Americans have not improved over the last four years. Using polls, studies have found that 51% of Americans express anti-black views (3% higher than in 2008) and these attitudes may greatly affect President Obama's reclection this year. American's are also found to express anti-Hispanic views as well. Experts on race believe that we have a "false idea that there is uniformity in progress" (Agiesta) whereas in reality there are still setbacks when there is pregress. This prejudice could affect Obama's election points by 5%     Core Democratic   Value(s) and     Rationale for each of the CDV(s)   Legislative (people voting)     Government indicated in this issue (Legislative, Executive, Judicial)   National (study was conducted on all Americans and is about the Presidential Election)     Wich Core Democratic Values?   Which Core Democratic Value(s) is(are) best represented in this article? Explain. How are these CDV(s) met or not met in this article?     How can these unmet CDVs affect our country in the long run?   Walues and the threads of the tapestry are equal in value no matter what their colo."     Yealue sin theatato if you can. <th>Exploring CDVs-Tem</th> <th colspan="4">Exploring CDVs– Template</th>	Exploring CDVs-Tem	Exploring CDVs– Template
APA Citation Agiesta, J. (2012, Óctober 27). Poll: Slim US Majority Has Prejudice Against Blacks.   Retrieved October 27, 2012, from MSN news: http://news.msn.com/   Complete summary of Even with our first African American president, the racial attitudes towards African   Article Americans have not improved over the last four years. Using polls, studies have found that 51% of Americans express anti-black views (3% higher than in 2008) and these attitudes may greatly affect President Obama's reelection this year. American's are also found to express anti-Hispanic views as well. Experts on race believe that we have a "false idea that there is uniformity in progress" (Agiesta) whereas in reality there are still setbacks when there is progress. This prejudice could affect Obama's election points by 5%   Core Democratic Value(s) and   Rationale for each of the CDV(s) and I say that this article represents the CDV Diversity, because the article shows a lack of Value(s) and (Egislative (people voting)   Government indicated in this issue (Legislative (people voting) Legislative (people voting)   Level of Government with jurisdiction – how do you know? National (study was conducted on all Americans and is about the Presidential Election)   Focus questions – how will you lead a discussion on this article? Which Core Democratic Value(s) is(are) best represented in this article? Explain. How are these CDV(s) met or not met in this article?   Focus questions – how will you lead a discussion on this article as it relates to the Core Democratic Value(S) met or not met in this article?	Name of Section	Student work inserted below electronically for each section.
Retrieved October 27, 2012, from MSN news: http://news.msn.com/Complete summary of ArticleEven with our first African American president, the racial attitudes towards African Americans have not improved over the last four years. Using polls, studies have found that 51% of Americans santi-Bispanic views (3% higher than in 2008) and these attitudes may greatly affect President Obama's reclection this year. American's are also found to express anti-Hispanic views as well. Experts on race believe that we have a "false idea that there is uniformity in progress" (Agiesta) whereas in reality there are still setbacks when there is progress. This prejudice could affect Obama's election points by 5%Core Democratic Value(s) and Rationale for each of the CDV(s)I say that this article represents the CDV Diversity, because the article shows a lack of respect for different race. The American people have a unfair attitude towards peoples of different skin colors.Branch of Government indicated in this issue (Legislative, Executive, Judicial)Legislative (people voting)Level of Government with jurisdiction – how do you know? (National, State, Local)National (study was conducted on all Americans and is about the Presidential Election) which Core Democratic Value(s) is(are) best represented in this article? Explain.  How are these CDV(s) met or not met in this article? How can these unmet CDVs affect our country in the long run?Quote, including person who said it. Include year or event"We all should know that diversity makes for a rich tapestry, and we must understand that the treads of the tapestry are equal in value no matter what their color."
Complete summary of ArticleEven with our first African American president, the racial attitudes towards African Americans have not improved over the last four years. Using polls, studies have found that 51% of Americans express anti-black views (3% higher than in 2008) and these attitudes may greatly affect President Obama's reelection this year. American's are also found to express anti-Hispanic views as well. Experts on race believe that we have a "false idea that there is uniformity in progress" (Agiesta) whereas in reality there are still setbacks when there is progress. This prejudice could affect Obama's election points by 5%Core Democratic Value(s) and Rationale for each of the CDV(s)I say that this article represents the CDV Diversity, because the article shows a lack of respect for different race. The American people have a unfair attitude towards peoples of different skin colors.Branch of Government indicated in this issue (Legislative, Executive, Judicial)Legislative (people voting)Level of Government with jurisdiction — how do you know? (National, State, Local)National (study was conducted on all Americans and is about the Presidential Election)Muich Core Democratic Values?Which Core Democratic Value(s) is(are) best represented in this article? Explain. How are these CDV(s) met or not met in this article?How are these CDV(s) article as it relates to the Core Democratic Value(s) affect our country in the long run?Quote, including person who said it. Include year or event"We all should know that diversity makes for a rich tapestry, and we must understand that all the threads of the tapestry are equal in value no matter what their color."	APA Citation
ArticleAmericans have not improved over the last four years. Using polls, studies have found that 51% of Americans express anti-black views (3% higher than in 2008) and these attitudes may greatly affect President Obama's reclection this year. American's are also found to express anti-Hispanic views as well. Experts on race believe that we have a "false idea that there is uniformity in progress" (Agiesta) whereas in reality there are still setbacks when there is progress. This prejudice could affect Obama's election points by 5%Core Democratic Value(s) and Rationale for each of the CDV(s)I say that this article represents the CDV Diversity, because the article shows a lack of respect for different race. The American people have a unfair attitude towards peoples of different skin colors.Branch of Covernment indicated in this issue (Legislative, Executive, Judicial)Legislative (people voting)Level of Government with jurisdiction – how do you know? (National, State, Local)National (study was conducted on all Americans and is about the Presidential Election)Focus questions – how will you lead a discussion on this article as it relates to the Core Democratic Values?Which Core Democratic Value(s) is(are) best represented in this article? Explain. How are these CDV(s) met or not met in this article?Quote, including person who said it. Include year or event"We all should know that diversity makes for a rich tapestry, and we must understand that all the threads of the tapestry are equal in value no matter what their color."		Retrieved October 27, 2012, from MSN news: http://news.msn.com/
ArticleAmericans have not improved over the last four years. Using polls, studies have found that 51% of Americans express anti-black views (3% higher than in 2008) and these attitudes may greatly affect President Obama's reclection this year. American's are also found to express anti-Hispanic views as well. Experts on race believe that we have a "false idea that there is uniformity in progress" (Agiesta) whereas in reality there are still setbacks when there is progress. This prejudice could affect Obama's election points by 5%Core Democratic Value(s) and Rationale for each of the CDV(s)I say that this article represents the CDV Diversity, because the article shows a lack of respect for different race. The American people have a unfair attitude towards peoples of different skin colors.Branch of Covernment indicated in this issue (Legislative, Executive, Judicial)Legislative (people voting)Level of Government with jurisdiction – how do you know? (National, State, Local)National (study was conducted on all Americans and is about the Presidential Election)Focus questions – how will you lead a discussion on this article as it relates to the Core Democratic Values?Which Core Democratic Value(s) is(are) best represented in this article? Explain. How are these CDV(s) met or not met in this article?Quote, including person who said it. Include year or event"We all should know that diversity makes for a rich tapestry, and we must understand that all the threads of the tapestry are equal in value no matter what their color."
ArticleAmericans have not improved over the last four years. Using polls, studies have found that 51% of Americans express anti-black views (3% higher than in 2008) and these attitudes may greatly affect President Obama's reclection this year. American's are also found to express anti-Hispanic views as well. Experts on race believe that we have a "false idea that there is uniformity in progress" (Agiesta) whereas in reality there are still setbacks when there is progress. This prejudice could affect Obama's election points by 5%Core Democratic Value(s) and Rationale for each of the CDV(s)I say that this article represents the CDV Diversity, because the article shows a lack of respect for different race. The American people have a unfair attitude towards peoples of different skin colors.Branch of Covernment indicated in this issue (Legislative, Executive, Judicial)Legislative (people voting)Level of Government with jurisdiction – how do you know? (National, State, Local)National (study was conducted on all Americans and is about the Presidential Election)Focus questions – how will you lead a discussion on this article as it relates to the Core Democratic Values?Which Core Democratic Value(s) is(are) best represented in this article? Explain. How are these CDV(s) met or not met in this article?Quote, including person who said it. Include year or event"We all should know that diversity makes for a rich tapestry, and we must understand that all the threads of the tapestry are equal in value no matter what their color."	Complete summers of	Even with our first African American president the regiol attitudes towards African election points by 5%Core DemocraticI say that this article represents the CDV Diversity, because the article shows a lack of respect for different race. The American people have a unfair attitude towards peoples of different skin colors.Rationale for each of the CDV(s)Legislative colors.Branch of Government indicated in this issue (Legislative, Executive, Judicial)Legislative (people voting)Level of Government with jurisdiction – how do you know? (National, State, Local)National (study was conducted on all Americans and is about the Presidential Election)Focus questions – how will you lead a discussion on this article as it relates to the Core DemocraticWhich Core Democratic Value(s) is(are) best represented in this article? Explain.How are these CDV(s) met or not met in this article? Whus can these unmet CDVs affect our country in the long run?Wue all should know that diversity makes for a rich tapestry, and we must understand that all the threads of the tapestry are equal in value no matter what their color."	· · ·	Americans have not improved over the last four years. Using polls, studies have found that 51% of Americans express anti-black views (3% higher than in 2008) and these attitudes may greatly affect President Obama's reelection this year. American's are also found to express anti-Hispanic views as well. Experts on race believe that we have a "false idea that there is uniformity in progress" (Agiesta) whereas in reality
Core Democratic Value(s) and Rationale for each of the CDV(s)I say that this article represents the CDV Diversity, because the article shows a lack of respect for different race. The American people have a unfair attitude towards peoples of different skin colors.Branch of Government indicated in this issue (Legislative, Executive, Judicial)Legislative (people voting)Level of Government with jurisdiction - how do you know? (National, State, Local)National (study was conducted on all Americans and is about the Presidential Election)Focus questions - how will you lead a discussion on this article as it relates to the Core Democratic Values?Which Core Democratic Value(s) is(are) best represented in this article? Explain. How are these CDV(s) met or not met in this article?Quote, including person who said it. Include year or event"We all should know that diversity makes for a rich tapestry, and we must understand that all the threads of the tapestry are equal in value no matter what their color."
Value(s) and Rationale for each of the CDV(s)respect for different race. The American people have a unfair attitude towards peoples of different skin colors.Branch of Government indicated in this issue (Legislative, Executive, Judicial)Legislative (people voting)Level of Government with jurisdiction - how do you know? (National, State, Local)National (study was conducted on all Americans and is about the Presidential Election)Focus questions - how will you lead a discussion on this article as it relates to the Core Democratic Values?Which Core Democratic Value(s) is(are) best represented in this article? Explain.Quote, including person who said it. Include year or event"We all should know that diversity makes for a rich tapestry, and we must understand that all the threads of the tapestry are equal in value no matter what their color."	Core Democratic the CDV(s)Legislative (people voting)Branch of Government indicated in this issue (Legislative, Executive, Judicial)Legislative (people voting)Level of Government with jurisdiction – how do you know? (National, State, Local)National (study was conducted on all Americans and is about the Presidential Election)Focus questions – how will you lead a discussion on this article as it relates to the Core DemocraticWhich Core Democratic Value(s) is(are) best represented in this article? Explain.How are these CDV(s) met or not met in this article? How can these unmet CDVs affect our country in the long run?We all should know that diversity makes for a rich tapestry, and we must understand that all the threads of the tapestry are equal in value no matter what their color."	Value(s) and Branch of Government indicated in this issue (Legislative, Executive, Judicial)Legislative (people voting)Level of Government with jurisdiction – how do you know? (National, State, Local)National (study was conducted on all Americans and is about the Presidential Election)Focus questions – how will you lead a discussion on this article as it relates to the Core Democratic Values?Which Core Democratic Value(s) is(are) best represented in this article? Explain.Quote, including person who said it. Include year or eventWe all should know that diversity makes for a rich tapestry, and we must understand that all the threads of the tapestry are equal in value no matter what their color."	Rationale for each of	of different skin colors.
Government indicated in this issue (Legislative, Executive, Judicial)National (study was conducted on all Americans and is about the Presidential Election)Level of Government with jurisdiction - how do you know? (National, State, Local)National (study was conducted on all Americans and is about the Presidential Election)Focus questions - how will you lead a discussion on this article as it relates to the Core Democratic Values?Which Core Democratic Value(s) is(are) best represented in this article? Explain.Quote, including person who said it. Include year or event"We all should know that diversity makes for a rich tapestry, and we must understand that all the threads of the tapestry are equal in value no matter what their color."	the CDV(s) in this issue (Legislative, Executive, Judicial)National (study was conducted on all Americans and is about the Presidential Election)Level of Government with jurisdiction – how do you know? (National, State, Local)National (study was conducted on all Americans and is about the Presidential Election)Focus questions – how will you lead a discussion on this article as it relates to the Core Democratic Values?Which Core Democratic Value(s) is(are) best represented in this article? Explain.Quote, including person who said it. Include year or event"We all should know that diversity makes for a rich tapestry, and we must understand that all the threads of the tapestry are equal in value no matter what their color."		Legislative (people voting) (Legislative, Executive, Judicial)National (study was conducted on all Americans and is about the Presidential Election)Level of Government with jurisdiction – how do you know? (National, State, Local)National (study was conducted on all Americans and is about the Presidential Election)Focus questions – how will you lead a discussion on this article as it relates to the Core Democratic Values?Which Core Democratic Value(s) is(are) best represented in this article? Explain.Quote, including person who said it. Include year or eventHow are these CDV(s) met or not met in this article?"We all should know that diversity makes for a rich tapestry, and we must understand that all the threads of the tapestry are equal in value no matter what their color."
Executive, Judicial)National (study was conducted on all Americans and is about the Presidential Election)Wational, State, Local)National (study was conducted on all Americans and is about the Presidential Election)Focus questions – how will you lead a discussion on this article as it relates to the Core DemocraticWhich Core Democratic Value(s) is(are) best represented in this article? Explain.How are these CDV(s) met or not met in this article?How are these CDV(s) met or not met in this article?Quote, including person who said it. Include year or event"We all should know that diversity makes for a rich tapestry, and we must understand that all the threads of the tapestry are equal in value no matter what their color."
Level of Government with jurisdiction – how do you know? (National, State, Local)National (study was conducted on all Americans and is about the Presidential Election) (National, State, Local)Focus questions – how will you lead a discussion on this article as it relates to the Core Democratic Values?Which Core Democratic Value(s) is(are) best represented in this article? Explain. How are these CDV(s) met or not met in this article?Quote, including person who said it. Include year or event"We all should know that diversity makes for a rich tapestry, and we must understand that all the threads of the tapestry are equal in value no matter what their color."
with jurisdiction - how do you know? (National, State, Local)Which Core Democratic Value(s) is(are) best represented in this article? Explain.Focus questions - how will you lead a discussion on this article as it relates to the Core DemocraticWhich Core Democratic Value(s) is(are) best represented in this article? Explain.How are these CDV(s) met or not met in this article?How are these CDV(s) met or not met in this article?Quote, including person who said it. Include year or event"We all should know that diversity makes for a rich tapestry, and we must understand that all the threads of the tapestry are equal in value no matter what their color."
how do you know? (National, State, Local)Which Core Democratic Value(s) is(are) best represented in this article? Explain.Focus questions – how will you lead a discussion on this article as it relates to the Core Democratic Values?Which Core Democratic Value(s) is(are) best represented in this article? Explain.How are these CDV(s) met or not met in this article?How are these CDV(s) met or not met in this article?Quote, including person who said it. Include year or event"We all should know that diversity makes for a rich tapestry, and we must understand that all the threads of the tapestry are equal in value no matter what their color."		National (study was conducted on all Americans and is about the Presidential Election)
(National, State, Local)Which Core Democratic Value(s) is(are) best represented in this article? Explain.Focus questions – how will you lead a discussion on this article as it relates to the Core Democratic Values?Which Core Democratic Value(s) is(are) best represented in this article? Explain. How are these CDV(s) met or not met in this article?Quote, including person who said it. Include year or event"We all should know that diversity makes for a rich tapestry, and we must understand that all the threads of the tapestry are equal in value no matter what their color."
Focus questions – how will you lead a discussion on this article as it relates to the Core Democratic Values?Which Core Democratic Value(s) is(are) best represented in this article? Explain. How are these CDV(s) met or not met in this article?Quote, including person who said it. Include year or event"We all should know that diversity makes for a rich tapestry, and we must understand that all the threads of the tapestry are equal in value no matter what their color."	-
how will you lead a discussion on this article as it relates to the Core Democratic Values?How are these CDV(s) met or not met in this article?Quote, including person who said it. Include year or event"We all should know that diversity makes for a rich tapestry, and we must understand that all the threads of the tapestry are equal in value no matter what their color."	Local) discussion on this article as it relates to the Core Democratic Values?How are these CDV(s) met or not met in this article?Quote, including person who said it. Include year or event"We all should know that diversity makes for a rich tapestry, and we must understand that all the threads of the tapestry are equal in value no matter what their color."	-	Which Core Democratic Value(s) is(are) best represented in this article? Explain.
article as it relates to the Core Democratic Values?How can these unmet CDVs affect our country in the long run?Quote, including person who said it. Include year or event"We all should know that diversity makes for a rich tapestry, and we must understand that all the threads of the tapestry are equal in value no matter what their color."
the Core Democratic Values?How can these unmet CDVs affect our country in the long run?Quote, including person who said it. Include year or event"We all should know that diversity makes for a rich tapestry, and we must understand that all the threads of the tapestry are equal in value no matter what their color."		How are these CDV(s) met or not met in this article?
Values?Quote, including person who said it. Include year or event"We all should know that diversity makes for a rich tapestry, and we must understand that all the threads of the tapestry are equal in value no matter what their color."
Quote, including person who said it. Include year or event "We all should know that diversity makes for a rich tapestry, and we must understand that all the threads of the tapestry are equal in value no matter what their color."		How can these unmet CDVs affect our country in the long run?
person who said it. Include year or event "We all should know that diversity makes for a rich tapestry, and we must understand that all the threads of the tapestry are equal in value no matter what their color."
Include year or event that all the threads of the tapestry are equal in value no matter what their color.		"We all should know that diversity makes for a rich tapestry, and we must understand
	-	that all the threads of the tapestry are equal in value no matter what their color."
	•	~ Maya Angelou quotes (American Poet, b.1928)

Post to Bb and your Weebly to share with your classmates.

Poll: Slim US majority has prejudice against blacks

October 27, 2012 By Jennifer Agiesta

A new Associated Press poll finds that, four years after the US elected its first black president, racial attitudes have not improved. A slight majority of Americans now express prejudice towards blacks.

WASHINGTON — Racial attitudes have not improved in the four years since the United States elected its first black president, an Associated Press poll finds, as a slight majority of Americans now express prejudice toward blacks whether they recognize those feelings or not.

Those views could cost President Barack Obama votes as he tries for re-election, the survey found, though the effects are mitigated by some Americans' more favorable views of blacks.

Racial prejudice has increased slightly since 2008 whether those feelings were measured using questions that explicitly asked respondents about racist attitudes, or through an experimental test that measured implicit views toward race without asking questions about that topic directly.

In all, 51 percent of Americans now express explicit anti-black attitudes, compared with 48 percent in a similar 2008 survey. When measured by an implicit racial attitudes test, the number of Americans with anti-black sentiments jumped to 56 percent, up from 49 percent during the last presidential election. In both tests, the share of Americans expressing pro-black attitudes fell.

Megan Czarnecki

"As much as we'd hope the impact of race would decline over time ... it appears the impact of anti-black sentiment on voting is about the same as it was four years ago," said Jon Krosnick, a Stanford University professor who worked with AP to develop the survey.

Most Americans expressed anti-Hispanic sentiments, too. In an AP survey done in 2011, 52 percent of non-Hispanic whites expressed anti-Hispanic attitudes. That figure rose to 57 percent in the implicit test. The survey on Hispanics had no past data for comparison.

The AP surveys were conducted with researchers from Stanford University, the University of Michigan and NORC at the University of Chicago.

Experts on race said they were not surprised by the findings.

"We have this false idea that there is uniformity in progress and that things change in one big step. That is not the way history has worked," said Jelani Cobb, professor of history and director of the Institute for African-American Studies at the University of Connecticut. "When we've seen progress, we've also seen backlash."

Obama himself has tread cautiously on the subject of race, but many African-Americans have talked openly about perceived antagonism toward them since Obama took office. As evidence, they point to events involving police brutality or cite bumper stickers, cartoons and protest posters that mock the president as a lion or a monkey, or lynch him in effigy.

"Part of it is growing polarization within American society," said Fredrick Harris, director of the Institute for Research in African-American Studies at Columbia University. "The last Democrat in the White House said we had to have a national discussion about race. There's been total silence around issues of race with this president. But, as you see, whether there is silence, or an elevation of the discussion of race, you still have polarization. It will take more generations, I suspect, before we eliminate these deep feelings."

Overall, the survey found that by virtue of racial prejudice, Obama could lose 5 percentage points off his share of the popular vote in his Nov. 6 contest against Republican challenger Mitt Romney. However, Obama also stands to benefit from a 3 percentage point gain due to pro-black sentiment, researchers said. Overall, that means an estimated net loss of 2 percentage points due to anti-black attitudes.

The poll finds that racial prejudice is not limited to one group of partisans. Although Republicans were more likely than Democrats to express racial prejudice in the questions measuring explicit racism (79 percent among Republicans compared with 32 percent among Democrats), the implicit test found little difference between the two parties. That test showed a majority of both Democrats and Republicans held anti-black feelings (55 percent of Democrats and 64 percent of Republicans), as did about half of political independents (49 percent).

Obama faced a similar situation in 2008, the survey then found.

The Associated Press developed the surveys to measure sensitive racial views in several ways and repeated those studies several times between 2008 and 2012.

The explicit racism measures asked respondents whether they agreed or disagreed with a series of statements about black and Hispanic people. In addition, the surveys asked how well respondents thought certain words, such as "friendly," "hardworking," "violent" and "lazy," described blacks, whites and Hispanics.

Megan Czarnecki

The same respondents were also administered a survey designed to measure implicit racism, in which a photo of a black, Hispanic or white male flashed on the screen before a neutral image of a Chinese character. The respondents were then asked to rate their feelings toward the Chinese character. Previous research has shown that people transfer their feelings about the photo onto the character, allowing researchers to measure racist feelings even if a respondent does not acknowledge them.

Results from those questions were analyzed with poll takers' ages, partisan beliefs, views on Obama and Romney and other factors, which allowed researchers to predict the likelihood that people would vote for either Obama or Romney. Those models were then used to estimate the net impact of each factor on the candidates' support.

All the surveys were conducted online. Other research has shown that poll takers are more likely to share unpopular attitudes when they are filling out a survey using a computer rather than speaking with an interviewer. Respondents were randomly selected from a nationally representative panel maintained by GfK Custom Research.

Overall results from each survey have a margin of sampling error of approximately plus or minus 4 percentage points. The most recent poll, measuring anti-black views, was conducted Aug. 30 to Sept. 11.

Andra Gillespie, an Emory University political scientist who studies race-neutrality among black politicians, contrasted the situation to that faced by the first black mayors elected in major U.S. cities, the closest parallel to Obama's first-black situation. Those mayors, she said, typically won about 20 percent of the white vote in their first races, but when seeking re-election they enjoyed greater white support presumably because "the whites who stayed in the cities ... became more comfortable with a black executive."

"President Obama's election clearly didn't change those who appear to be sort of hard-wired folks with racial resentment," she said.

Negative racial attitudes can manifest in policy, noted Alan Jenkins, an assistant solicitor general during the Clinton administration and now executive director of the Opportunity Agenda think tank.

"That has very real circumstances in the way people are treated by police, the way kids are treated by teachers, the way home seekers are treated by landlords and real estate agents," Jenkins said.

Hakeem Jeffries, a New York state assemblyman and candidate for a congressional seat being vacated by a fellow black Democrat, called it troubling that more progress on racial attitudes had not been made. Jeffries has fought a New York City police program of "stop and frisk" that has affected mostly blacks and Latinos but which supporters contend is not racially focused.

"I do remain cautiously optimistic that the future of America bends toward the side of increased racial tolerance," Jeffries said. "We've come a long way, but clearly these results demonstrate there's a long way to go."

http://news.msn.com/politics/poll-slim-us-majority-has-prejudice-against-blacks

Discussion Questions:

Which Core Democratic Value(s) is(are) best represented in this article? Explain.

How are these CDV(s) met or not met in this article?

Megan Czarnecki How can these unmet CDVs affect our country in the long run?